

Nick Papaioanu

Professor of Electronics and Computer Technology

Glendale Community College - Department Chairman – Electronics and Computer Technology

A tenured full-time community college professor for the last 20 years. Responsibilities included creation of several classes in the digital area of electronics, the Personal Computer and Network troubleshooting and repair which included A+ and Network + certification preparation and the Cisco CCNA and CCNP certification programs. I am also the lead instructor for the CISCO training program at Glendale Community College.

Certifications

A+ Certified

Apple Certified Repair Technician

IBM PS/2 Certified Repair Technician

J-STD- 001 Certified Soldering Instructor

Trained by CISCO to teach all classes in the CCNA Certification Program

Several Certificates in Computer Integrated Manufacturing, including Programmable Logic Controllers, Robotics, Programming and Using Digital Access Systems and Manufacturing Procedures

Education And Professional Fraternities

High School Diploma - Pasadena High School

Associate of Arts Degree - Industrial Technology - Pasadena City College

Bachelor of Arts Degree – Industrial Education – California State University Long Beach

Master of Arts Degree – Industrial Education – California State University Long Beach

Epsilon Pi Tau Honorary Professional Fraternity for Education In Technology (Alpha Phi Chapter)

Professional and Industrial Experience

Adjunct Professor of CISCO Training - Los Angeles City College (LA River Center)

Associate Electrical Engineer – Singer Librascope (Glendale, CA)

Adjunct Professor in Digital Electronics – Citrus College (Azusa, CA)

Manufacturing Engineer – General Dynamics (Pomona, CA)

Senior Designer – Geophysical systems (Pasadena, CA)

Video Systems Engineer –Telemation Inc. (Salt Lake City, Utah) and Omega Assoc. Los Angeles, CA

Draftsman – Burroughs Corp. (Pasadena, CA)